DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Shulman 5,622,556. See for example, Example 6.
3. Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Teare 5,030,502. See column 1, lines 7-36 and column 3, line 63 through column 4, line 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3 and 5-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Teare in view of Gleeson et al 6,572,697. The reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed, namely a backerboard comprising expanded polystyrene and Portland cement; see column 1, lines 7-36 and column 3, line 63 through column 4, line 2. However it does not disclose incorporating ash and fibers into the cement composition. The secondary reference discloses the use of fiber and fly ash in cement compositions to reinforce and provide low density to the mixture; see column 1, lines 18-38 and column 2, lines 33-38. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the cement composition of the primary reference with fly ash and fibers in order to improve strength and workability of the final article. Regarding the amounts of the claimed ingredients, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to adjust the amounts of each ingredient in the composition of the prior art in order to provide optimum properties to the final article in the absence of unexpected results attributable to the specific amounts. It would also have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to vary the size of the final article depending on the end use of the article and to laminate addition well-known layers, such as a foam layer, to the article to provide the desired structural properties for a particular end use.
